

Naples Botanical Garden

June 7, 2010

Chairman Julius Genachowski
Commissioner Michael J. Copps
Commissioner Robert M. McDowell
Commissioner Mignon Clyburn
Commissioner Meredith Attwell Baker
Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

RE: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

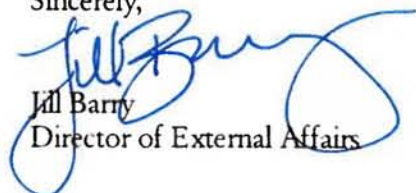

At the Naples Botanical Garden, we rely on community support and involvement as we work hard to beautify our local area. Toward this end, one of our most loyal partners is Comcast. While they may not be headquartered down the street, they are as much a part of our community as any of our next-door neighbor. As you examine the newly proposed joint-venture between Comcast and NBC, I hope you will note Comcast's unparalleled dedication to community development – something we believe will likely continue to grow with NBC by their side.

Recently, we have been proud to host two Comcast Cares Days. During these events, Comcast employees and local community members come together to work on projects that improve our hometown – for example, helping to restore and replenish our gardens. Comcast's outreach to our community allows us to share what we do, attract new visitors and hopefully inspire more of our residents to experience the joys of gardening.

Comcast's focus in developing the latest and greatest in technological innovation also means a great deal to our community. In particular, Comcast's coverage of local sports, news and government ensures that the people of Naples are well informed and have all the tools they need for full civic participation. For example thanks to Comcast's investment in broadband Naples residents can visit our website to find out about upcoming programs and developments with the Botanical Gardens. In an era when high speed broadband is far more of a necessity than a luxury, it's reassuring to see more and more residents and businesses connected to Comcast's rapidly expanding national network.

I am confident both Comcast and NBC have much to offer and I look forward to working with both companies more closely in the future.

Sincerely,

Jill Barry
Director of External Affairs